Vincent: It is everything to me, freedom to feel and think about anything and make it come out in my and our music. It just makes me happy to create something out of nothing...

Jay: Music is the life source that has maintained my sanity for most life. It lives and breathes and constantly challenges me to reach for a higher level of musicianship.

Fabienne: Music has been my one constant companion in my life, my therapy, my true north in a way. The one thing I always come back to regardless of what's happening in my life.

Dre : Well music is a big part of my life I have played music since I was 6 so music has taught me so much in my life and is still teaching to this day

What do you think musicians can do to make the world a better place?

Vincent: A lot we have a chance to touch people with our music, reach them to their souls, plus given our platform we can talk about some issues and bring light to them, but at the end of the day people are very smart and see the positive in the world and we all pull together to make the world a great place.

Jay: Musicians need to understand how their reaches and inspires people. I believe that music should be reinstated in elementary and high school as a mandatory course. This would positively help to mold the next generation of creativity.

Fabienne: Music is language and it's the only language we all speak regardless of where we are from, it touches everyone.

So musicians need to keep flooding the world with beautiful melodies and inspire others to learn an instrument, start writing, composing or singing.
